NO ACTION ON THE ARMY BILL YET.

The Senate Occupied with the Maine Contested Case.--House Caucus Committee in Session.---The House will hold a Session Monday.

The National Capitol.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—HOUSE:—Stephens of Georgia, from the Committee on rules reported a resolution for the re-apportionment of the following select Committees: Census reform civil service on the law respecting ascertainment and declaration of Presidential elections; in regard to the prevention of epidemic diseases; on the ventilation of the hall; on the causes of depression of labor. Also to increase the Committee membership as follows: Enrolled bills to 7; Coinage to 11; Ways and Means to 13; Agriculture, Judiciary, Elections, Commerce and Appropriations to 15 each. Also new rules providing that the motion to suspend the rules and pass the general appropriation bill shall require a three-fourths majority instead of (as now) two-thirds. The report is being discussed.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—SENATE.—The Senate resumed consideration of the New Hampshire senatorial election case. Davis, of Illinois, opposed the admission bill to seat., arguing that there was no such vacancy as could be filled by the Governor.

Continued discussion of the question of admitting the Bill until 4:30 o'clock, when the Senate went into executive session, and after the doors were re-opened, it adjourned. Jones, of Fla., speaks to-day in favor of admitting the Bill.

Confirmations by the Senate.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9.—Geo. Holmes, Collector of Customs for Beaufort, S. C., Henry G. Thomas Post Master at Decatur, Alabama; Cadet Engineers Wm. N. Little, of Ga., and Edward R. Freeman of Miss., to be assistant Engineers U. S. Navy. Captain Geo. H. Butler, of Ark., to be Major in Marine Corps.

Municipal Elections.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The election in Jersey City, N. J., yesterday, for members of the local boards resulted in Republican gains. The boards last year were strongly Democratic. There is a tie in the boards of Police and Fire Commissioners. The board of Free Holders is Republican. The Board of Aldermen stands 6 Democrats and 5 Republicans. One district is doubtful. The Board of Public Works and the Board of Education are very evenly divided, but will be controlled by the Democrats.

In the city of Bayune, which usually goes Democratic, the Republicans have made a clean sweep. In Hoboken the Republicans elect their candidate for mayor.

Disaster to British Troops.

LONDON, April 9.—Advices from Cape town about the disaster to the British convoy on Intombe river, March 12th, reports that besides the troops it is thonght forty wagon drivers and followers were killed. Twenty-five Zulu corpses were found on the field of battle. It is believed many more were drowned. The Zulus had ample time to get news of the convoy as it was delayed at the ford three days by heavy rains. The ford was only four miles from Luneburg. Col. Pearson signals from Ekowe that he can hold out ten days longer till the fourth of April, that his provisions only are short and he has plenty of ammunition. A dispatch giving these particulars says, nothing of the sickness in his command which is only mentioned by the Daily News' correspondent. Scouts who arrived at the camp of the relieving column just before departure of last advices report the Zulus eleven miles north of Tugela river. They are hidden in a dense jungle so that their numbers are unattainable.

Steamer Disabled.

LEWIS, ME. April 8.—The schooner Chas. A. Jones, Chrisholeus Island, S. C., loaded with phosphate rock, for Woodsholl, Mass., sprang a leak during the heavy gale of March. 30th, off Frying Pan shoals. The crew was picked up next day by the schooner Agnes J. Grace, and has been landed here.

WILKES.

Court Scenes--Personal Mention--Missionaries Needed--Farewell Dobson and Schenck.

Correspondence of the NEWS.

WILKESBORO, N. C., March 29.

The Superior Court for Wilkes county convened at the Court House in Wilkesboro on Monday, 17th March, His Honor David Schenck, the model judge, presiding, and Joseph Dobson prosecuting for the State, assisted by Col. W. H. H. Cowles. The bar was the largest and ablest we ever have seen in Western North Carolina. The local lawyers were: Col. W. H. H' Cowles, Col. T. J. Dula, Maj. J. T. Wilborne, Capt. John S. Cronor, L. L. Wetherspoon and Wm. Barber. The visiting lawyers were: Judge D. M. Furches, Solicitor Dobson, Hon. Wm. M. Robbins, Col. G. N. Folk, Col. L. M. McCorkle, Maj. J. W. Todd, Col. J. M. Clemons, Hon. R. Z. Linney, Maj. H. Bingham, Aon. W. P. Caldwell, Maj. E. S. Vaughn, E. D. Wiley, S. Lane, Geo. McCorkle and A. H. Holton.

The docket, both civil and criminal, was, as usual, very large, and by the last of the first week of the term His Honor Judge Schenck had filled the jail, and to use the classic language of Solicitor Dobson, "was hitching them out." We were reminded of Gov. Vance's expression about fighting Yankees, &c., when we saw the jail full and their heels hanging out at the window. There were several hundred A. B. cases, no beginning nor end to peace warrants, thirty-four T. A. cases and nearly one hundred L. P. cases. One small township alone, furnishing nearly one hundred State cases. Just here we would suggest to the religious world and foreign missionary societies the old adage "That charity begins at home." Why send missionaries to China and other foreign lands when you have such a field as a portion of Wilkes and Yadkin? When

In vain with lavish kindness,
The gifts of God are made,
And the people in their blindness,
Get drunk on "block-ade."

The grand jury failed to find a bill against Alfred Edmundson, who killed Tedder and severely wounded Elijah Church in a difficulty that occurred in this county a few months ago. The two latter were noted desperadoes and outlaws, and went to Edmundson's house one night for the purpose of killing him, but he was a noted fighter and the result was Tedder was killed and Edmondson and Church badly wounded; both were captured by the sheriff and lodged in jail. Edmondson was released and Church goes to "The Railroad" three years and six months. Rubin Hawkins, one of the shining lights of Radicalism and late keeper of the poor-house for Wilkes county was convicted for maltreatment to the paupers in his charge at last court, an appeal was taken and the Supreme Court granted him a new trial, and at this term the jury expounded and the court took a recess for dinner, and when it met Rubin Hawkins was non est. A gentleman met him about one-half a mile from town near the Yadkin River and he said he was going down to the river to set some of his witnesses over, at last accounts Rubin was still hunting his witnesses, he however, returned the horse of Mr. J. H. Fraley's which he rode off, and the following lines which explain themselves:

Fare-well ye hills and valleys,
We must separated be;
Fare-well Dobson and Schenck,
You have no charms for me;
Fare-well my bondsmen,
I am bound for Tennessee.

A great many amusing things transpired during Court, the speeches of Solicitor Dobson are always rich, rare and racy. He is one of the very best criminal lawyers in the State. J. H. H.

THE HATTERAS WRECK.

A North East Gale---A Small Schooner Starts for New Berne---The Capt. Seeks Anchor---A Night of Terror---A wrecked Vessel.

Correspondence of the News.

CAPE HATTERAS, DARE Co., April 1st, 1879.

Your correspondent writes that on Sunday, March 30th, a heavy wind commenced blowing from the northeast about 4 o'clock, P. M., and continued all Sunday night, gradually increasing until near midnight, after which it changed in a more northerly direction, and blew with less violence. It appeared at one time as if the waters of Pamlico Sound must be

BLOWN INTO THE OCEAN,

or that Cape Hatteras was destined to be forever the bottom of the sea. Such a storm of wind has not been witnessed for years. On Sunday morning a small schooner, or what might be properly called one of our Sound boats, started from the Cape for the town of New Berne. The captain seeing that it would be dangerous sailing through the sound anchored his little vessel about four miles from the shore, under a high reef, selecting his own harbor, and without doubt, considering all safe on board. But such was the violence of the wind and the waves, that on the next morning, Monday, 31st, the boat or vessel lay within one hundred yards of the shore with both

MASTS BROKEN AND BOTTOM SIDE UP.

There were five people on board, two white men and one colored, and two white women—all were lost.

At the time of writing, one of the men has been found.

It is supposed that the women are yet in the cabin, and an effort will be made as soon as the weather permits to recover their bodies. F.

WAKE FOREST.

Every Sweet has its Bitter---Preparations for Commencement---The Eminent Speakers---A Good Word for the News.

Correspondence of the News.

WAKE FOREST COLLEGE, N. C., April 8th, 1879.

The budding trees and tender grasses always gladden the students' heart, as they whisper the near approach of Commencement. But then those old, hard examinations, which hang like a pall about the close of the session! It is true they crowd upon us all along the way, but that final one! However, every sweet must have its bitter, and the sun always shines brighter after the clouds have passed away. And then these Spring evenings are so delightful. Every thing is so cheerful. The birds warble their softest notes, and the lilly-white flowers just peeping above the tender blades, send forth fragance so sweet and inviting that the sun scarcely gilds the western hills ere you see here and there some fair and gallant promenaders with paces slow and voices whispers like soft!

Great preparations are being made to make our approaching

COMMENCEMENT EVEN A GRANDER SUCCESS

than the last one, which is said to have been the most successful in the history of the College. The Marshals have been selected, and I must say that, with few exceptions, they are a right good looking set, and we feel the societies bestowed honors well deserved. They are, Philomathesian Society, Messrs. Manasses A. Jones, Apex, N. C., Casey J. Hunter, Wake county, and John S. Bizzell, La Grange, N. C.; Euzelian Society, Barney H. Phillips, Johnston county, William B. Waff, Gates county, and Marshal V. McDuffie, Fayetteville, N. C. We hope it will not be necessary to order "bands" for them, as they have promised to be polite, obliging and obedient.

THE SPEAKERS.

The Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by that talented and learned divine, Rev. John A. Broadus, D. D., L. L. D., President of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky. When our beloved and lamented President, Dr. Wingate, was told the class had secured Dr. Broadus, he smiled and said he would rather have Dr. B. than anyman he knew of, scarcely excepting the great Spurgeon.

That honored, gallant and eloquent North Carolinian, Matt. W. Ransom, will deliver the address before the Literary Society.

The Alumni address will be delivered by the Rev. R. R. Savage, of Chowan. He graduated with distinction in the class of 1860. Then, we have a graduating class of twelve, who we suppose feel that they have their lamps trimmed ready to step on life's stage with their politest bow and effusions grand, eloquent and thrilling. O! when will some of the rest of us be Seniors!

The NEWS continues to be the popular paper at Wake Forest; and now you have dressed it so beautifully, and are standing up so nobly for the rights of the people and the principles of Democracy, you need feel no fears of its continued success. M.

Words.

Eternity's the longest word,
The shortest is now;
Trust is the quickest word,
Wrinkling the brow.

Hope is the brightest word,
Love is the best;
Trust is the truest word,
Linking the rest.

Hate is the coldest word,
Longest to live;
Pennace the humblest,
The grandest, forgive.

Fame is the lurking word,
Sparkling with tears;
Wealth, praise and power bring,
Sorrows for years.

Life is the frailest word,
Fleeting, though glad;
Death is the surest word,
Gloomy and sad.

Friend is a faithful word,
Cherished for aye;
Death brings the last word,
The saddest—"Good bye."

Dr. Hoye of the Richmond Presbyterian church has received an urgent call to go to Philadelphia. It is probable he will accept.

Dr. Smith of Greensboro has been preaching able sermons in Concord at the revival for the past two weeks.

A DROWNING MAN.

HIS EXPERIENCE WHILE DROWNING.

Something Swallowing Him---As if Shot out of a Cannon---Breath Gives out---His Mouth Opens.

Captain Schewensen, the commander of the steamship Pommeranian, which was run down and sunk in the English chanel, last November, arrived at New York last Saturday in command of the steamship Silesia, and received a cordial greeting. He gives a thrilling account of the disaster, and claims that his crew displayed thorough discipline. The captain went down with his ship, and thus describes the feeling of a man when being drowned: "I had a feeling that some awful sea or maelstrom was swallowing me down. Then came the sensation of being forced through the water as if I had been discharged from a cannon, and when I could hold my breath no longer I opened my mouth, and found I was at the surface with floating things about me. I found a board six feet long, and counted the five boats in the distance, and I could see them because they were painted white. For an hour the tide carried me rapidly toward the German ocean. Then I saw the light of a steamer coming directly toward me, but almost at the same time I was taken with cramp in the legs, and thought for a second that I must surely die. Yet the steamer came nearer. I shouted, saw the steamer stop, saw a light go down the side, heard the dip of oars and the boatswain saying, "Don't strike the man on the head." Then a hand grasped me and I fainted. The next thing I remember was seeing a ball of light before me, surrounded by a dark rainbow, which kept growing brighter and brighter. Then a prickly feeling beginning at my feet went up my whole body, my eyes opended, and I found myself looking at a lamp burning on the deck of the City of Amsterdam, which carried me into Rotterdam, where I lay sick for three days."

Captain Schewensen was received at the City Hall, New York, yesterday, by Mayor Cooper, and presented with resolutions of the board of alderman recently adopted, bearing testimony to his seamanship and humanity.

STATE NEWS.

Forsythe.

Winston Leader.

We learn that the four per cent bonds have been purchased, and that the new bank will begin operations about the first of June.——Mr. J. M. Turner, a young man not more than 21 years old, living at Bathania, in this county, has invented and had patented a pea thrasher, that promises to be a valuable machine——We are gratified to tell our readers that that able and distinguished gentleman, Col. L. L. Polk will address the farmers of Forsythe upon agricultural matters on the 7th of June. We want every man that can come to town on that day to do so. Let there be a large turnout. The Col. is well versed in everything that pertains to the best interest of our people, and by hearing him they will be greatly benefitted——It is proposed by a committee of the Confederate Soldiers' Survivors' Association to call a meeting of the old soldiers on the 10th of May to observe Memorial Day, and to decorate the graves of those buried here.

Charlottte Observer: The cadets of the Carolina Military Institute have laid off a track of one-eighth of a mile in the campus, and are walking against each other and against time.——Reports from different parts of the county show that no elections are exempt from the loss of the fruit crop. There may be a few apples left, but the peaches and pears are all dead.——The Rudsill Mining Company shipped a car load of gold sulpheret ore to Jersey City, yesterday afternoon, to be worked by the process of reduction, in operation there. They are now making regular shipments, a car load at a time. The first sent there, as heretofore stated, turned out 870 per ton, and the cost of raising and shipping is less than 830 per ton. The quality of the ore now being shipped is superior to that which gave the yield of $70.——From an old paper issued in Charlotte in October, 1831, we make a few extracts from the market reports which are of interest as compared with those of to-day, puplished in The Observer of this morning. It is a little singular that in many of the articles the prices are so nearly the same. Here are a few of the articles with the prices on the Fayetteville market; Bacon 9@10; coffee, 14@15; cotton, 8@8½, corn, 40; flour, 4½@4½; lard, 9@10; molasses, 32@33; oats, 28@30; wheat, 75; sugar prime, 9, and lump, 15@20. The greatest difference is in the price of peach and apple brandy, the one being 50 and the other 40. In Charleston, at the same date, prices ranged from 1 to 3 per cent. higher. Most of the business of this section, at that time, was done in Charleston.

New Hanover.

Wil. Sun: The large new wharf of the C. C. Railway, at the river warehouse, was completed yesterday. Three vessels can unload alongside it, at one time.——Our city has just sent out one company of burnt cork minstrels and now another one is being organized for home amusement. They have two rattling clog-dancers and a good stump speaker.

The Black Death in Missouri.

Lexington (Mo.) Register.

The most fearful fatality we have ever been called upon to chronicle during the whole course of our editorial experience occurred to a poor family by the name of Carnes, residing a mile an a half above the city. The family consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Carnes and two grown sons, the eldest of whom was totally blind, having been in that condition from infancy. On the 8th instant the youngest son, who was the main support of the family, being a robust, healthy and industrious young man, took suddenly ill, and died within a few hours in convulsions. His remains were interred upon the following day, and a few hours after the funeral his father was taken with the same virulent disease. He lingered until the following Wednesday, when he also died, seemingly in the most excruciating physical agony. After death, it is said, the body turned quite black and was much swollen. During his illness his wife was prostrated with the same disorder, and survived him but two days, expiring on Friday in fearful convulsions. The remaining member of a once happy family, the blind son is suffering with the same cruel disease that deprived him of a kind father and mother and loving brother, and there is but little if any hope of his recovery. The disease that has almost swept his family from the face of the earth may be likened unto the plague of Astrachan, or the dred fever of Africa, as it does its deadly work with almost the same expedition, though fortunately it is not infectous. The disease has been pronounced to be a malignant type of pleuro-pneumonia, but it is doubtful if this is correct. It may be a relief to know that no other persons in that neighborhood have been attacked with the fell disorder, which is evidently not contagious, and all apprehensions that have naturally arisen on that score may be at once allayed.

A Word About Reading.

Christian Advocate.

As a general thing we are not as careful about our reading and that of our children as we should be. Our sons and daughters are reading trashy literature, and some of them obscene books and pamphlets, and a great many parents manifest no concern about it whatever. Many of the newspapers that flood the country are just as corrupting as obscene books. Be careful as to the nature of the reading matter that enters your household.

URGING THE BLACKS TO MOVE.

A Boston Emigration Association at Work---Homes for the Colored People in Texas.

Baltimore Sun.

The Boston Advertiser of Saturday published some information regarding the Northern associations in the South, among the colored people, to induce them to emigrate from the South to the Western States and Territories. According to the Advertiser's statement, which is doubtless somewhat overdrawn, this movement began shortly after the Presidential struggle. The popularity of the Liberian movement among the South Carolina blacks led the "exodus magnates" to open correspondence with Western land and railway agencies, and just as they were about ready to talk about the advantages of the chosen Western paradise the railway land negotiators themselves rushed in their glowing prospectuses and participited a stampede. The dissatisfied colored people, rushing into the current, landed at St. Louis, the official rendezvous, took breath and began to realize their improvident haste; but, having started, pushed on. The locality in which these new settlers were to have been collected was Texas, in that unoccupied northernly part lying between New Mexico and the Indian Territory. Here starting with about two hundred thousand men, one third of them with families, it was anticipated that in time the territory might be set off by itself as a State, to be called Lincoln. In the furtherance of this scheme there was formed, some months ago, in Boston, the National Farmers' Association. This association engaged from the Dallas and Wichita railroad a Texas corporation, sixty-five alternate sections of land, which was to be paid for at the rate of one dollar and a half per acre. The association issued lots of two hundred shares of stock, each share at one hundred dollars. These are sold to the colored people, and are accepted by the railroad corporation as cash in their purchase of lands. When each lot of stock is issued $19,000 is paid to the railroad, the $1,000 retained (100 shares at $100 making $20,000) being used in the work of canvassing among the colored people and of removing them. This land comes to the railway company as a subsidy from the State of Texas. The sections between the railway lands belong to the State, and these are to be preempted at $150 an acre, the State being paid in tenths, yearly, and without interest. It is understood that there are now about 2,800 families ready to start, who have stood out against the tempting offers of competing Western agents. It is supposed that these people will start about April 19—emancipation day. It is undersood, says the Advertiser, that the association has issued and sold stock covering 20 sections in Texas, in all 12,800 acres. More than four times as much State land will be pre-empted under the same patronage. This organization has been in existence about five months, and is one of several in the North, their formation being preceded by the circulation of political documents among the colored people during the past two years.

THE WIFE MURDERER.

THE CONTRAST BETWEEN THEN AND NOW.

He Had a Dare-Devil Look Then---He is Worn and Much Broken Now---There is no Wail to Flee to---The Scene in the Dungeon.

Burke Blade.

We first met Secrest on the Western North Carolina railroad train, which brought him to Burke for trial before the magistrate's court in Icard township, the scene of his murderous activity. He was then cool and self-possessed, pushing his way through the crowd at Icard to view the which had once belonged to his wife and her child, and which were then on the ground for the Justice's inspection. This dare-devil look was maintained unshaken throughout a long imprisonment, and the tedious, inquisitive, tortuous trial, which resulted in a verdict of guilty for him and the pronouncing of the death sentence. Now all that is changed. To recklessness has succeeded remorse. Instead of the laughing, wicked blue eye, one gazes into the wrinkled depths of leaden melancholy dullness, from which a constant stream of tears flow freely.

If there is any doubt as to the certainty of the punishment which swift, surefooted conscience inflicts on its enemy, let them visit Secrest and be convinced. A stouter-nerved fellow by nature cannot be conceived; yet he is hopelessly stricken by an inner-wielded cudgel, and there is neither wall to flee to nor resistance to be made. This "warm-hearted, passionate peopled world" has, for him, lost all attraction, and there is no outward sign at least that he has found the road which "leads that still country, where the hail-storms and fire-showers do not reach, and the heaviest laden way-farer at length lays down his load."

HE DOES NOT TALK AT ALL,

not even to his aged father, in company with whom we visited him, and who has stood to his son through his late but long report of evil, as none but parent will stand. Moody and silent, mechanically tying and untying his shoe strings, he listens to what is said to him without looking up. Three negroes and a white man were with him in the cage, when we entered. The white man seemed especially fond of him, repeatedly stroking his hair, as the more distinguished criminal gave way to tears.

FASHION RECORD.

A new dress material is called Damasse bunting.

Now sunshades are "allee samee likee Chinaman" and chiefly recommended for their oddity.

They are going to put gold ornaments on the new bonnets, or gilt if the real stuff is not available.

Painted ribbon, or bands of satin, are the newest thing in the trimming line for girls of the period.

There are still some five hundred styles of arranging the hair, and only one kind of Boston brown bread.

Sashes for young ladies who have left their "teens" behind them are, we understand, to be revived.

Collarettes of lace are to be worn by ladies who desire to hang on the ragged edge of sweet sixteen.

The new bonnet, at least one style, is very much like the poke, but it can not be used for raking the hay.

White morning suits, or white suits of morning wear, are very jaunty and pretty, and almost invariably made with a waist-coat or vest.

Spring ulsters for ladies are distinguished by buttons about the size of an ordinary soup plate, and by the most pronounced style of pockets.

The Residence of John Randolph of Roanoke, Destroyed by Fire.

Information reached here to-day of the destruction by fire of the residence of John Randolph of Roanoke, in Charlotte county last night. The property was purchased by the late Hon. The amount of the loss sustained by the fire has not been ascertained.

VANDERBILT AND GREELEY.

The Daughters of the Late Horace Greely Get $37,000 for Money Loaned by Their Father---An Anecdote Connected Therewith.

Some fifteen years ago Cornelius J. Vanderbilt was somewhat in disfavor with his father, Commodore Vanderbilt, on account of his reckless habits and extravagance. "Young Cornee!" managed to ingratiate himself in the favor of the late Horace Greeley. The Commodore had cut down Cornelius's financial resources to a mere living allowance, and was inexorable as to all further appeals on the subject. In the course of the acquaintanceship and intimacy which resulted between Cornelius and Mr. Greeley the latter was induced to advance or lend considerable sums of money to the young man, but upon what representations, expectations or security is now very generally known.

Since the close of the Vanderbilt will trial, negotiation, have been completed by which these long overdue notes have at last been taken up and paid by Mr. William H. Vanderbilt in behalf of his brother and partly, no doubt, under a sense on equitable justice to the heirs of Mr. Greeley. The matter was finally closed at the Hoffman House, in a conference when Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt caused to be paid to Mrs. Ida Greeley Smith and Miss Gabrielle Greeley, Mr. Greeley's surviving daughters, the sum of $28,500 each, being the principal of the notes, with accrued compound interest. There was no legal liability whatever against the estate of Commodore Vanderbilt on account of this debt, and its prompt and generous settlement reflects credit upon the executors, and will no doubt prove acceptable to the recipients.

In connection with this debt, a story is told that when the Commodore heard "Corneel" had been borrowing large sums of money from Mr. Greeley, he became very angry, and assuming that Mr. Greeley had loaned the money mainly in the belief that he (the Commodore) would repay it, determined that he would not pay it, as a warning to others not to lend money to his wayward son. After thinking over it, he set off in high dudgeon to see Mr. Greeley, and "give him a piece of his mind about it." Mr. Greeley was very busy when the Commodore came, puffing and indignant, into his office. In his usual bluff, impetuous way, the Commodore said: "Mr. Greeley, I understand you have been lending my son, 'Corneel,' money! Mr. Greeley, looking up quickly, and then almost instantly resuming his work, replied, in his usual drawling way, "Yes, Commodore, I've let him have some money." "You have, eh?" bluffed the Commodore, "you have—well, I want you to understand that I ain't responsible for it, and I shan't pay you a cent of it." Mr. Greeley ran his spectacles up on his eye brows, stopped writing for a moment, and, turning a full face on the Commodore, fairly yelled out: "You won't eh? Well, who in the devil asked you to pay it? I didn't did I?" Greeley dropped his glasses over his eyes and bent again to his work. The Commodore, nonplussed and boiling over with fury, steamed out of the office, and it was a matter of rumor that the two men were never afterward on as good terms as they had previously been.

A Sensation in Baltimore County---A Lunatic's Attempt to Raise the Dead.

Baltimore Sun.

At Lauraville, Baltimore county, four and a half miles from the city, on the Harford road, a first-class sensation culminated on Monday. On Tuesday last Mr. Frederick Eckert, a well to do farmer, sixty years old, who has been of unsound mind for some time, disinterred the remains of his wife, buried two years ago in the Western Cemetary, and brought the coffin, containing a blackened and shriveled corpse, to his home in a wagon, in the belief that he could raise the dead by prayer. He dug up the coffin without aid, and brought it to his house, where it lay on the floor in the parlor without any of the neighbors being the wiser of it until Saturday. Even then it would not have been known if he had not invited a lady in the neighborhood to his house "to show her something particular."—The visitor was mortified to see the blackened remains which Mr. Eckert said was his wife. His religious monomania was pronounced, but was accompanied by no violence of behavior. He had recently built a new house near by, and called it his chapel, and said his wife should occupy it. His sister and brother-in-law, lived on the place, were cognizant of the freak, but felt powerless to interfere. County policeman Fossel, who had been appealed to by neighbors, consulted Hon. J. Morris Harris, living near by, and was told that if there was any disagreeable odor from the house the corpse could be removed as a nuisance, but as there was nothing of the kind the best way out of the difficulty was to induce some relative to ask for a jury of inquiry as to lunacy.

In addition to the facts already stated it was shown Mr. Eckert started for Europe a short time ago but was turned back in New York on account of unsoundness of mind. His property including a house in Baltimore, was valued at eight or nine thousand dollars. It was stated that when his wife died he had also about $5,000 in bank, which he drew out, and it is believed has buried a part of it. He was under the impression that there should be seven books of Moses in the Bible instead of five, and that he should write a new Bible on that account. Other instances of mental abberation were cited, and the jury found a verdict of lunacy and that he was not capable of taking care of his property. Deputy Sheriff Risteau, policeman Fossett and others took Mr. Eckert into custody and conveyed him to Townsontown, where he will be cared for until the court shall designate the trustees of his estate and find a suitable asylum for his care and treatment. He resisted capture, but had no weapons. He was in a woodshed, locked up, but the door was forced. He asked his sister in German, to break the heads of the officers of the law with an ax. The shriveled remains of the deceased wife will be reinterred.

All through the neighborhood and at Townsontown the singular freak formed the staple of much comment, and the news spread quickly to the city.

JAKE H.

We Told You So!

Okolona Southern States.

Who was it that said the yankee yellow fever fund had united our republic in bonds of brotherly love that there would be no more harsh passages at arms between the north and south; that the lion had laid down with the lamb, and all that kind of fol-de-rol?

Was it the conservatives?

Yes, we believe—in fact, we know it was the conservatives, for they are forever saying or doing something that is distinguised for its tomfoolery.

Well, it seems that the old wounds were reopened in that Jefferson Davis confab, in the United States Senate, and the two sections are now whetting their knives for a furious presidentail fight in 1880.

We knew it!

We told you so!

The Folding Room.

Washington Post.

It has been charged all over the country by the newspapers and campaign speakers of the republican party that the campaign documents of the democracy in 1879 were folded at the expense of the government in the folding-room of the house. Let us see how the record stands. In 1868 the expense of the folding-room of the republican house was $109,000. In 1872 it was more than $100,000. In 1878 the expense of the folding-room of the democratic house was $20,000. Comment could not add to the sledge-hammer force of this fact.

The Dreadful Southern People.

Detroit Free Press.

It is dreadful how these southern people will fully deprive the colored citizens of their rights. A colored boy stole Mrs. Senator Gordon's pocket-book a few days ago and was captured. There is no sort of doubt but he had every right to a cell in the prison, yet he was rudely deprived of this boon because Mrs. Gordon refused to prosecute him. How much longer will the free people of the north stand this sort of thing?

All the Hair He'll Pull.

Atlanta Constitution.

It is to be hoped that Logan has provided himself with a waste-basket of sufficient capacty to hold all the hair he will pull out during the ensuing debate.

Friends of the Coroner.

Holly Springs, Miss., Reporter.

Concealed weapons are like Brutus and Jack Sheppard, friends of the coroner. They give him meat, and drink and clothing. Without the pocket pistol and silent, but terrible, little dirk, the coroner would go to bed hungry and wake up every morning with his creditors at the door. They are enemies to society, but great friends to the coroner.

WASHINGTON.

GHOSTS AT THE CAPITOL.

Hard Money Wins---The Picknickian Cry of Revolution---The President's Backbone.

The other night I wandered in that hall,
The battle ground of freedom in debate;
There sat the solons at a "seance" late,
And while I looked and listened, on the wall,
As on a screen, came spectres at the call
Of those who guide the fortunes and the fate
Of the old ship we call the "Ship of State."—
Ghosts of dead issues powerless to appeal
There stalked "Rebellion" amid armed bands!
Here "Liberty" held up her "clanking chains!"
Then all the ghosts together on the wind
Of battle rushed with noise of smiting hands,
But seeing fun in ghostly cocking mains,
The "man on horseback" grimly sits behind.

HOUSE.

April 8th. By a large majority the House determined Saturday against general legislation at this session of Congress. Vance, of North Carolina, demanded the yeas and nays on the motion on Monday. He was seconded by the entire North Carolina delegation who recorded in favor of legislation for the relief of the people. The vote was considered a test vote between hard and soft money. The yeas were 155, nays, 109. Martin and Russell, of North Carolina are recorded as not voting.

THE PICKWICKIAN CRY OF REVOLUTION.

Kelly, of Pennsylvania, a Republican and Greenbacker, in combatting a proposition to limit debate on the legislative bill to 20 minutes, said "that he hoped there would be a full debate, so that the country would see that members were not preparing for a coming revolution, or to take part in its suppression, and might be restored to a sound condition. It was evident that the majority on both sides were determined that there should be no Monday to initiate legislation; in fact, that legislation was to be confined to the two appropriation bills. Now let the House fight it out, and let the country know how thoroughly Pickwickian the cry of revolution and revolt was." Of course the Democrats applauded, much to the chagrin of the Republican side.

EAGER FOR THE FIGHT.

The Democrats manifested a lively interest to-day in the forthcoming debate on the legislative bill. A vigorous opposition was made by McLane, of Maryland and Hooker, of Mississippi, to the practice of allowing only those members who registered their names with the speaker to speak. The discussion developed into a wrangle when Scales moved a reference of the whole matter to the Committee on Rules. In the meantime the old practice will be observed. Blackburn is Chairman of the Committee and when he took the chair and announced that he would refuse to recognize any list of speeches made up before he was selected as chairman, fifty members rushed at once to the Clerk's desk to get their names down, creating such confusion that the Sergeant-at-Arms was directed to tell them to take their seats.

Gen. Scales stands near the head of the list. Debate on the supervisor and test oath amendments will begin to-morrow. Kelly, of Pennsylvania, leads off in a speech on the "currency."

THE ARMY BILL.

The army bill was reported by the Senate Committee on Appropriations to-day as it passed the House.

Senator Withers gave notice that he would call up the bill after the New Hampshire election case shall have been concluded.

Blaine gave notice that he would offer the following amendment at the end of section 3, namely: "And any military, naval or civil officer, or any other person who shall, except for the purpose herein named, appear armed with a deadly weapon of any description, either concealed or displayed, within a mile of any polling place, where a general or special election for representative to Congress is being held, shall on conviction be punished with a fine not less than five hundred nor more than five thousand dollars, or with imprisonment for a period not less than six months nor more than five years, or with both fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court."

THE END.

As to how long it will take to dispose of it finally there is much conjecture going on to-day. Several leading Senators were questioned on the subject and each one expressed the opinion that it would be at least ten days or two weeks before it is ready to go to the President.

THE PRESIDENT'S BACKBONE.

The doubt that the President would not sign the bill seems to be wearing away, and it was circulated around generally at the Capitol this afternoon that he would undoubtedly sign it.

NORTH CAROLINA CONCERNS.

Scales and Vance will be retained at the head of their respective Committees, Indian affairs and Patents.

Armfield will be assigned to the Judiciary.

Gov. Vance has recovered from his illness and occupied his seat in the Senate to-day. He will not speak on the Army bill.

Capt. Cook, of Franklin, and Dr. McGee, of Halifax, were in the city last week.

Mrs. Cicero Harris, of Wilmington, is in the city.

It is reported here that Ex-Speaker Price and Senator Matt Carpenter will form a law copartnership in Washington.

Col. Wheeler works ten hours a day on his "Biographical Sketches of North Carolina." He enjoys excellent health, and his big, North Caroiina soul is fully into the work that now engages his venerable years.

The Necessary Ohio Man.

Cincinnatti Times.

The Okolona States is winning the glory which a couple of years ago the Meridian Mercury had all to itself. The Mercury should lose no time in importing a hired man from Ohio, giving him free swing, and making Rome howl. There's nothing like it for advertising purposes.

A Fact to be Remembered.

Washington Post.

It is well to familarize the people with the fact that R. B. Hayes, M. C., voted with his party in 1872 for an army appropriation bill containing legislation expressly designed to strip the president of one or more of his most important prerogatives. And now the republicans are threatening that the man who thus voted will veto acts of congress in order to defeat a majority of congress and the people in their effort to repeal unconstitutional and partisan legislation.

USSEY & JORDAN PROPRIETORS

JOHN B. HUSSEY, - - Editor.

THURSDAY, - - - APRIL 10, 1879.

THE PLANETS IN 1881.

The relation which exists between the earth and her sister planets has for ages been the theme of speculation and investigation. It is likely to be attentively considered during the next two years, when a phenomenon which has not occurred before, probably in the history of the world, will take place, namely, a conjunction of the planets, which will be on the same meridian at the same time, and thus bring all their attractive impulses to bear in the same direction at once. This extraordinary event will occur in 1881 and will be the herald of other equally startling phenomena. What the effect of this disturbance of planetary equilibrium will be there is no possibility of knowing, but it is well known that certain terrestrial phenomena of a serious kind are simultaneous with the proximity of the planet Jupiter to the sun. The sun spot periods, with all their attendant results to us, are dependent upon the great planet of our system. What a disturbance of the sun's condition the conjuction of all the planets will bring about we leave to astronomers to calculate, but we have a key to the situation in two chance observations. In 1862 an English astronomer, watching the sun's limb, observed an enormous tongue of flame shoot from it into space, bend as if swept by a hurricane and exhibit other phenomena. Glancing at an electric needle beside him, he observed it swing round its dial followed by a tongue of flame. For some days afterward every indication of a tremendous electrical disturbance was noted down and further observations distinctly indicated that the solar phenomena were related to the terrestrial. The occasion of the former was attributed to some comparatively slight planetary influence; the effect upon the solar mass by the combined planetary influences may therefore be guessed at. Another theory, not yet by any means established, is that of Professor Tice, who claims that the planetary equinoxes exert a reciprocal influence, which accounts for meteorological phenomena. We may look for some agitations of nature therefore, in 1880 whose effect is incomputable. The superstitious who remember Mother Shipton's prophecy that the final collapse of this planet is to come in that year may be interested in the identity of the dates.

SERMONS IN THE NEWSPAPERS.

There was probably never a time when journalists were more disposed to regard sermons as "news," and valuable news, than now. The Chicago Times, which publishes every Monday from eight to twelve columns of sermons, values so highly the exclusive right to Prof. Swing's sermons that it has stopped their publication, after reporting them for years past, because Prof. Swing refused to exclude other papers from the privilege of reporting his sermons. This does not hurt Prof. Swing, and is only bad for the Times, which is bound to give its readers the news, whether other papers have it or not. The same paper asserts, and the Chicago Tribune flatly denies, that one clergyman in Chicago, Dr. Thomas, gives over the exclusive publication of his sermons to the Times because, as the Times frankly says, he is anxious to reach its readers, probably deeming their need greatest. Reporting sermons preached in the same city is, however, a small matter. A New York agency, with Mr. Talmage's consent, furnished abstracts or a full report of his sermons in advance to papers at a distance from New York. These sermons are published in full by six or eight papers, and three or four times as many publish abstracts. This publication of sermons pays, or it would not be done. When the New York Tribune began some years ago to publish a page of metroplitan sermons, the sale of its Monday morning issue showed in the first six months an increase of from 2000 to 3000 copies, a large number of country ministers ordering the Monday edition, all the work on which is done Sunday, who would have hesitated at taking a Sunday paper, the work on which is done Saturday.

COLONEL Buford, who shot and instantly killed Chief Justice Elliott, of Kentucky, now claims that the deed was committed by him while in a condition of insanity, and that he was insane at the time will be his plea in defense. Insanity has been relied upon in two many instances for the protection of murderers, and Colonel Buford seems to be unfortunate in that whenever the officers of the law were arrayed against what he conceived to be his interests, his insanity came upon him and he seized a shot gun. Insanity is a very terrible disorder, especially when it assumes a homicidal form. It is to the interests of society, however, that any person insane enough to commit murder should be perpetually restrained of his liberty. Even should Colonel Buford save his neck from the rope, it would be exceedingly advantageous to the country to have him placed for the rest of his life where no recurrence of the mood will be attended with homicidal consequences.

THE movement of the colored people into Kansas is not a drop in the bucket, when compared with the thousands of whites who are going there to settle. Pennsylvania, especially, has contributed largely to the number of emigrants, 2500 of whom have passed through Kansas city in a single day. Missouri is jealous that this tide flows right through her borders without stopping, and its House of Representatives has voted to appropriate five thousand dollars a year to get immigrants to come to that State. Texas, Nebraska and Dakota are also alive with new settlers, while the Leadville (Col.) excitement is strong enough to attract hundreds of adventurous spirits from all parts of the country. All together, the waste places are fast filling up, and the best of it is that this steady drain from the East will multiply the number of acres tilled, increasing the food supply and relieving the ranks of the unemployed.

The Germans in China are learning how to turn an honest penny by teaching the Celestials to manufacture their own goods. So successful have they been that the Chinese government is about to erect a woolen mill at Lanchow-Fu, the chief town in the provnice of Kansu, where the raw material is most abundant. The machinery, which has been ordered in Germany, is now on its way out to China, and two practical mechanics from Aix-la-Chapelle accompany it, in order to superintend the erection of the factory. There cannot be any doubt in regard to the ability of the Chinese to do this sort of work. The California blanket factory, which turned out the best blankets ever made in the United States, was run exclusively by Chinese operatives, with American foremen.

THE differences between Chili on one side and Bolivia and Peru on the other, which have just culminated in a declaration of war, began some months ago in the taxation by Bolivia of the product of nitrate deposits held by Chilians in Southern Bolivia. A treaty has existed between Chili and Bolivia exempting this property when in the hands of Chilian subjects from any but municipal taxation, and it is the infraction of this treaty by the imposition of an export duty which leads to war. The war will practically be between Peru and Chili, Bolivia having no navy and an army of but 3,000 men.

122. Mauney vs. Coit from Rowan. It is not competent for a partner, after the dissolution of the partnership, to bind it by waiving protest of a draft given in payment of a partnership obligation and to grant an extension of time. It is the duty of the holder notwithstanding such waiver to present for payment and if not paid to take steps with in reasonable time for collection. This general principle of parternership applies with greater force for the protection of a dormant partner.

BY SMITH C. J.

123. Glenn vs. Farmer's Bank, from Guilford.

In a creditors' suit to have the property of the defendant bank applied to payment of its debts, advertisement was made under a decree that by a day named all creditors should come in and prove their claims or be debarred of sharing in the distribution. Held: If a creditor had no information of such advertisement and is not chargeable with negligence in bringing forward his claims, his application to come in after the date fixed should be granted and it is the duty of the judge to ascertain in regard to these facts before refusing the application.

BY SMITH, C. J.

124. Alston v. Old North State Ins. Co., from Wake.

A condition in a policy of insurance that the property shall not be exposed to peril as an unoccupied tenement without notice to, and the consent of, the insurers, is a just and reasonable precaution against increased risk and is a substantial and important element of the contract. It is not necessary that immediate notice of vacancy be given the insurers, but a delay of over a month is inexcusable and vitiates the policy.

125. State v. McKinsey, from Rockingham.

Where the State introduced the declaration of the prisoner that he had "killed the deceased, who with others had banded together and waylaid him near George Young's, but he had cut his way out." Held: However slight the evidence may have been, when confronting the concurring testimony of the witnesses who were present and saw what was done, it was error for the judge to charge the jury that there was no evidence of a conspiracy and waylaying as stated by the prisoner, although George Young's was not the place where the killing was testified by such witnesses to have taken place. It is the exclusive province of the jury to consider, and give proper weight, to the prisoner's declaration.

BY SMITH, C. J.

126. Purnell vs. Vaughan, Barnes & Co., from Halifax.

Where the plaintiff's equity to ask the intervention of the court embraces the taking of an account of the mutual dealings, to ascertain the amount due and the postponement, by an injunction, of a sale of the plaintiff's property under his mortgage to the defendant, it involves the correlative duty on the part of the plaintiff to pay what is due, and to submit to a decree of sale, if he fail to make payment. The jurisdiction invoked having been exercised for the benefit of the plaintiff, and the case being ready for a decree of sale, it would be unjust to deny the defendants all accruing benefits of the proceeding.

BY SMITH, C. J.

127. Jones vs. Boyd, from Buncombe.

Where land is sold under a bond to make title upon the payment of the notes given for the purchase money, an action for specific performance does not lie before the last note is due and a restraining order and the appointment of a receiver made in such action being ancillary must fall with it. The vendor, upon the failure of the vendee to pay any notes falling due before all are due, has his remedy by ejectment and the above ancillary remedies to prevent waste and injury. Butner vs. Chaffin, Phil. 497, cited and approved.

BY ASHE, J.

128. State v. Alford, from Wake.

Where the prisoner, who had escaped from jail, was halted, about dusk, near his house, by an officer and his posse, concealed in the bushes and required to give an account of himself, whereupon he fired, killing the officer, Held: It was error to refuse the prayer of the prisoner to charge "if the deceased did not make known to the defendant and the defendant did not know that he was an officer, the offence was manslaughter;" it not being shown that it was light enough for the prisoner to recognize the deceased's face, nor that he knew his voice.

Modistes predict that before the Summer is over we will all be wearing hoop skirts again. We hope not.

Decorative art has more or less to do with the new Spring and Summer fashions. Very nice embroidery and fancy work comes under this head nowadays.

The Dagmar is the name of a new imported round hat alleged to be English, and named after the Princess about whom we all know so much that is pleasant.

Lace mitts with long gauntlets will be in style again as soon as warm weather comes, and every lady can take the mitten herself without having it given to her.

Those tall, ungainly combs are obsolete, and the newest are small and genteel. Those of silver are preferred. You can borrow more money on one of silver than on the tortoise shells.

Here is something clipped from an exchange that devotes considerable space to fashion matters: "Young peas just bursting from the pod are shown for trimming bonnets. Husbands will be obliged to buy them for their wives in order to keep peas in the family." Loud laughter.

Light summer silks, which will be much used for street suits, have chinchilla stripes of narrow-clouded chine stripes, set close together on brown cardinal, garnet, blue and other colored ground. There are some noted "colored grounds" in coffee, also on South Fifth avenue!

Dread and despair fall upon the community when a terrible epidemic, like the cholera or yellow fever, suddenly desolates our homes: yet, all the while, a more insidious, but no less fatal foe, enters thousand of households every year and carries off the flower of the family in the early flush of manly youth and budding womanhoods People call it presumption, or "decline." It is not, in most cases, the tuberculer phthisic or consumption of the lungs, which is the peculiar malady in climates like those of that British Islands and New England, but a general decay or arrest of the vital processes of nutrition. All the doctors agree that there is no remedy for this but COD LIVER OIL, but they are constantly met by the obstacle of inability on the part of the patient to swallow or retain it. This repulsion is entirely overcome by SCOTT'S EMULSION OF THE OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA which is agreeable to the taste and an unequaled nutrient and tonic for the body nerve and brain.

CELEBRATED
FOR THE CURE OF
Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,
DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.
PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER
DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.
For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.
THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.
Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

It is an excellent corrective of Indigestion I have used it with prompt beneficial results.
Rev. Dr. Mangum, Prof. Univ. of N. C.
I concur with Bishop Doggett in his estimate of the Vest Pocket Cure.
Rev. Drs. Jeter, Broaddus, Dickinson, (Bap.)
It is endorsed by the direct personal testimony of men of national fame and strictness of speech. It is not too much to say that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific. The word of any one of the eminent divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deserved weight. Their united witness joined with the experimental use and approval of the preparation by well-known physicians, removes all doubt. It is beyond question, a wonderful therapeutical agent.—Baptist Religious Herald, Va.
Chaplain Randolph Macon College, Va.
Many cases of Dyspepsia within my knowledge have been cured by it. Cramps, Colics, Headaches, and all sorts of pains from indigestion yield promptly to it. The cures of this sort are innumerable.
Rev. R. L. Dabney, L. L. D. Ham. Sid. Col., Va.
It is highly esteemed here by the regular Medical Faculty and the people. It is excellent for indigestion and Flatulent Colic, sedative, soporific, tonic, slightly apo. ent, without nausea.
Rev. B. F. Woodward, P. E., Na. Conf,
About twelve years I suffered from Dyspepsia. Falling in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could eat anything with impunity. I am sure I am indebted to this medicine for what of health and physical comfort I have had for the last sixteen years. I have known many since to be relieved by its use.
Rev. Robert W. Watts, A. M., Va.
I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colic, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hurt. I have recommended it to other sufferers with happiest results. It is the best tonic and corrective I ever knew. For protration from Dyspepsia or Liver Disease it is invaluable.
J. D. Eggleston, M. D., Va.
It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used than any single article in the whole list of medicines, so far as I observed in my practice, for all the complaints in families from indigestion. I use it and recommend it.

This remedy is of tried virtue. I have seen Dyspepsia cured completely by it. It seems to be an anti dote to our "National Disease." The ingredients are not kept by the apothecaries, and have been difficult to get.

Smithfield and Cape Fear Narrow Gauge Railroad.

Correspondence of the News.

SMITHFIELD, N. C., April 7, 1879.

MR. EDITOR: In pursuance of a resolution passed at a meeting held here this instant by the Commissioners, by virtue of the authority conferred by act of the last Legislature, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Smithfield and Cape Fear Narrow Gauge Railroad Company," I herein report the proceedings of said meeting, and respectfully request the publication of this communication, in accordance with the resolution.

The Commissioners, eleven of whom were present, are: Messrs. T. T. Oliver, J. H. Abell, D. W. Fuller, J. G. Gurley, Seth Woodall, B. A. Wellons, John L. Morgan, D. H. McLean, Calvin Lassiter, Eli Turlington, A. J Turlington, Danl. Stewart, Neil S. Stewart, and Major B. F. Shaw, Dr. L. E. Kirkman and Col. A. J. Heath, of Johnston and Harnett counties.

The Commissioners having met pursuant to a previous appointment, on motion of Mr. S. Woodall, Major B. F. Shaw, of Harnett, was called to the chair; and on motion of Mr. D. H. McLean, Mr. R. C. Williamson was requested to act as Secretary.

At suggestion of the chair, Dr. L. E. Kirkman stated the object of the meeting. After reading the Act of incorporation he explained that the meeting had been called to open books of subscription, as it was necessary to obtain subscriptions to the amount of $20,000, the minimum limit of capital stock, according to Section 2nd of the Act, which must be subscribed before the subscribers may proceed to the regular organization of the company.

On motion, Mr. E. J. Holt was invited to address the meeting upon the feasibility and propriety of construcing the projected road, to run through Smithfield, one terminus being some point on the line of N. C. R. R., east of the Neuse river, the other some point on the Cape Fear river.

Mr. Holt in a few pertinent remarks encouraged the enterprise warmly, but opposed the Narrow Gauge bed; holding that the cost of grading would not be diminished at all; and that while there might be a saving of about 30 per cent in the cost of engines, rolling stock, &c., this would not compensate for the inconvenience attending a variation from the standard width, on account of desired connections with other roads.

On motion of Mr. McLean, Mr. L. R. Waddell addressed the meeting; showing the advantages that would occur to the farmers of this section in the economy of their stock, &c.; the road would run through one of the most level belts of country in the State, and that it could be completed at about the cost required to construct one mile of railroad through the Blue Ridge. He grew eloquent in the prospective contemplation of the prosperity that would visit this section if certain projects of northern manufacturing companies to utilize the water power of the Cape Fear by opening canals around Smiley's Falls, now carried into execution; and dwelt upon the advantages that might, by consequence, attend an immediate connection with that point, —suggesting, however, that the line of road could be extended so as to open communication with Sanford, Greensboro, and other points.

On motion, Mr. McLean addressed the meeting in an earnest speech, referring the general advantages that would result from the enterprise. He called attention to the number of prominent citizens in attendance upon the meeting, as indicating the decided and general interest felt by the people in the project; suggested, that since the question of the location of the Court House of Johnston had been settled, the citizens of the country should hopefully endeavor to build up and improve the county seat; and concluded by a warm appeal to the citizens of Johnston and Harnett to take immediate step to secure by subscriptions, the amount of capital stock requisite to the organization of the Company.

Mr. E. W. Pou was then invited to address the meeting, and spoke very earnestly in favor of the road, computing that the value of lands would be increased 50 per cent. for a breadth of 20 or 30 miles on the line of the road. He evidently "meant business," and very aptly illustrated the advance of public opinion in the country, and the increase of the industrial spirit among the people, by contrasting the present enthusiasm, with the narrow mind of the half-civilized individual, who, when an engineer applied to him for a night's lodging a few years ago, replied that "no railroad tampter of Providence should roost under his shingle!"

After several plans had been discussed, it was resolved that each Commissioner be appointed a committee, with power to appoint others to open "books of subscription" in such localities as they shall deem proper; and that said committees report to the next meeting of the body.

The meeting adjourned to meet at this place on Tuesday, the 24th inst.

Very respectfully,
R. C. WILLIAMSON, Sec.

The Allen Brick Machine

Manufactured by Mr. C. A. Hege, of Salem, N. C., is gaining a wide reputation. The Greensporo Patriot has the following item in its issue April 6th:

Two more of the "Allen Brick Machines" passed through within the past past week, one to Mr. H. L. Grant, of Goldsboro, which makes the second for him; and one to Mr. Daniel Worth, of Alamance county.

There are now six of these machines in operation, which is a decided success, as this is the first season and but little effort has been made to bring it before the public. When a brick maker looks at it it does is town talking.

Her remarks were on the subject of prayer, and delivered in a clear distinct voice, at the conclusion of her remarks, she lead in prayer and was followed by others in the meeting. And when his friends by chance drop in
Then forth he comes, Lord what a grin,
And to their wondering eyes displays
Such heaps of brackets and window shades.
His pictures are exposed to public view
And a variety of cord to suspend them too,
His looking glasses and toilet cases
Will help adorn your forms and faces;
Picture frames and mouldings too
In great variety, black, brown and blue.
His window cornices and lambrequins fine,

The Celebrated Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass.

This is decidedly the most useful, besides being the most efficient Family Medicine ever placed within the reach of any people. Its reputation extends far and wide, and its great popularity is due entirely to its own merits. For relieving Sick and Nervous Headache, it may be truly said, to have no equal. Dyspeptics find it just the remedy for their troubles. Mothers and daughters have long since discovered in its use a "panacea" for their worst ills; and now we have the testimonies of two eminent ministers of the gospel, from Southern cities, setting forth its specific effects in other more dreaded and troublesome diseases.

Rev. John F. Mayne, Theological Seminary, Columbia, S. C., writes: "Am afflicted with that terrible disease, 'Diabetes;' am using the 'Seven Springs Mass' with a considerable degree of relief; is the only remedy I have yet found to suit my case; want to continue its use until a cure is effected if possible. Send worth of the enclosed P. O. order immediately.

One of the best places in the city is the Higgs House, on Hargett and Salisbury streets, which is open at all hours. There are to be found choice game, oysters and all the delicacies of the season. The house has attained note for its excellence of cuisine and its many merits have made it very popular.

You have only to try one of those delicious clear Havana, "Little Dorrit" cigarettes, or one of those "Lone Fisherman" cigarettes at Frank Grundler's cigar and tobacco headquarters, to be convinced that they are really the "most splendid thing out." They are first class really and truly.

The Kentucky State Lottery has, during its existence, paid more money in prizes than any lottery, domestic or foreign, whose tickets are sold in this country. The drawings take place twice a month, under sworn commissioners of the State, and are published in the N. Y. Herald, Staats Zeitung, and Louisville Commercial. And all out-of-town ticket holders are mailed a copy of the Official Drawing as soon as received. All prizes are cashed, without deduction, on presentation, and no one outside of the winners are made aware of the fact of their being richer by thousands of dollars but themselves, for we will not, under any circumstances, publish the names of persons drawing Capital Prizes for the purpose of drawing custom to our lottery.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.
